Can the local church be a place where the average guy can connect with God? This men's retreat is designed to re-engage men in their local congregations. This retreat will focus on God's Word regarding such topics as masculinity, spiritual leadership, and the future of men in the church.

In addition to the meaty Bible study, we will have three on three basketball, and time set aside to watch the Super Bowl on the big screen! Join us for super football, super food, super Bible study and super fellowship!

Real Men Follow Jesus!
February 1-2, 2009

The Retreat will be led by the Reverend Dr. Gary Zieroth, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Kingsville, Maryland. He received his B.A. from Concordia College, Ann Arbor. He received his M.Div. and D.Min. degrees from Concordia Theological Seminary, Fort Wayne. He has served parishes in Alberta, Canada and Maryland. He and his wife, JoAnn, have four children.

Today's churches, without even realizing it, may create an environment where women and tots thrive, but men feel hesitant and restrained. The restoration of a balance in the church between the sexes can be developed with a right (Scriptural) understanding of the meanings of masculinity and femininity. The present emphasis in church and society to establish feminism and the toleration of homosexuality can only drive men further from the church.

Why do boys not like to come to church? The answer is that we chase them out with our insipid and impotent doctrine. Put simply, our boys cannot learn how to become Christian men...without a return to the doctrines of the Reformation, doctrines which are taught plainly in the Scriptures.

I hope your schedule will enable you to join me in study of this important issue facing all of our churches.

Dr. Gary Zieroth
